Ask once. Get every carrier's illustration back.

Advisors spend time typing the same client into each carrier's software and rebuilding the results by hand. We can take that work off their desk.

THE CHANGE

From three tools and a spreadsheet to one request

WHAT AN ADVISOR DOES

Three steps, and only the first takes any effort

1

Ask

Open the client, choose the type of case, enter the amount, click one button.

2

Carry on

Nothing to log in to and nothing to watch. They get on with their day.

3

Receive

A finished, Tompkins-branded comparison arrives with each carrier's own illustration attached.

WHY IT MATTERS

What the firm gains

- More time with clients. The repetitive part of preparing a case disappears.
- Fewer mistakes. Nothing is retyped, and every figure is checked against the carrier's document.
- One firm standard. Every client sees the same quality of comparison, whoever the advisor is.
- Numbers you can stand behind. They come from the carriers' own software and are kept on file.

What we need from you

1. Approval to ask the three carriers for permission to run their tools this way. This is the one thing that could slow us down.
2. Compliance sign-off on the branded comparison.
3. One person named to own it inside the firm.

We would start with one carrier and expand. This is a proposal and has not yet been tested against the carrier tools.
